

DENTAL CAMP REPORT

Teeth play a role in overall nutrition and general health. Teeth allow you to follow a healthy diet and stay well nourished by preparing the food you eat for swallowing and digestion. Regular dental care is important to maintain your teeth. Bright and beautiful teeth are an attractive asset. They provide us with self-confidence, improve our quality of life and allow us to feel more natural. But it is not only for appearance that we have healthy teeth have an important effect on our diet, health and overall sense of well-being. Healthy teeth cannot be taken for granted. Age plays no role and anyone can be affected. The loss of teeth is not only an aesthetic problem, but it can also adversely affect everyday life. Whether it is eating a meal speaking to a colleague, or laughing with a loved one. Sometimes tooth loss and/or a badly positioned dental prosthesis can cause massive pain in the head and neck.

Human teeth function is mechanically breaking down items of food by cutting and crushing them in preparation for swallowing and digestion. There are four different types of teeth, namely incisors, canines, molars and premolars. Each type of tooth has a different job. The incisors cut the food, the canines tear the food and the molars and premolars crush the food. The roots of teeth are embedded in the maxilla or the mandible and are covered by gums. Teeth are made of multiple tissues of varying density and hardness.

Oral hygiene is the practice of keeping clean and is a means of preventing dental caries, gingivitis, periodontal disease, bad breath, and other dental disorders. It consists of both professional and personal care. Regular cleanings, usually done by dentists and dental hygienists, remove tartar that may develop even with careful brushing and flossing. Professional cleaning includes tooth scaling, using various instruments or devices to loosen and remove deposits from teeth.

The purpose of cleaning teeth is to remove plaque, which consists mostly of bacteria. Healthcare professionals recommend regular brushing twice a day in order to prevent formation of plaque and tartar. A toothbrush is able to remove most plaque, except in areas between teeth. As a result, flossing is also considered a necessity to maintain oral hygiene. When used correctly, dental floss removes plaque from between teeth and at the gum line, where periodontal disease often begins and could develop caries.

AIMS:

The main objective of the camp is to provide basic dental health education to the student teachers and motivate dental hygiene maintenance.

TREE PLANTATION - REPORT

Human beings live with the help of plants. Without plants man cannot live. Plants during photosynthesis liberate oxygen and take carbon dioxide. The liberated oxygen by plants is taken by human beings during respiration. Moreover, we are eating plant products and live. So we must plant plants surrounding our houses, in educational institutions and other places. Plants prevent global warming. It gives rain also.

Every year we conduct awareness programmes and issue saplings to our student teachers to plant in their house surroundings, for that we approach the government sapling farm at Pechiparai and Keeriparai and get sufficient saplings and give to the students. We thank Mr. Joe Prakash, co-ordinator, Eco-club, Kanyakumari Dt for his help to get the saplings. We planted plants in our Campus also.

To create awareness among the students we formed an Eco-club. Every year we conduct Eco-club meetings by inviting district level co-ordinator or Botanists from various colleges.

The Eco-club made our Campus greenery with a pleasant look

In 2011 we conducted Eco-club meetings and created awareness among the students and planted trees and saplings were distributed by Mr. J. Joe Prakash Co-ordinator K.K. Dist, Eco Club.

In 2012 Bishop of Kottar Diocese Dr. Remigius planted a tree to create awareness among the students and public

In 2013 Dr. A. J. Bensam, Principal, Immanuel Arasar College of Education planted a tree after the Eco-club meeting.

In 2014 Dr. Kala Vincila planted a tree after the Eco-club awareness meeting.

In 2016 Dr. J. Albert Prince Kumar, Principal planted a tree and most of the staff planted ornamental plants to beautify the campus. Now the campus is greenery and beautiful and gives a nice look to all eyes due to the effective functioning of the Eco-club.

The chief guest address was given by Dr.Robert amalraj, Convener, Chemparuthi vilai GH, who has motivated the students by giving a brief lecture about blood donation. He briefly explain types of Blood Donations .There are several types of blood donations and one donor can help up to three patients. A single unit of blood can be separated into different components such as red blood cells, plasma and platelets. Whole Blood is the most common and most flexible blood donation. It is usually collected in one pint and used to help multiple patients, by being separated into different components. Plasma is collected through apheresis, which is the process that separates plasma from other blood components. Platelets are also collected through the apheresis process. Once platelets have been selected from the donor's blood, the red blood cells and other fluids are returned to the donor. Double red cell donation is the collection of only red cells through the apheresis process. It allows donors to give double the amount of a whole blood donation. It can be used for anyone suffering from blood loss. Our principal Dr.Albert Prince Kumar felicitated the programme. Student teacher Lekshmi proposed vote of thanks.
